

ATTORNEY

ALICE CARVER

Alice is a commercial and general civil litigator and advocate. She has expertise in insolvency matters, acting often for creditors and shareholders, and she has represented the Liquidation Committee for a US-based mutual fund with multi-jurisdictional assets. Alice is experienced in complex trust and probate disputes including the rectification of trust deeds based on mistakes. Alice has acted in several complex commercial disputes including international disputes on behalf of companies listed on the Hong Kong Stock Exchange.

Alice accepts instructions in all aspects of general civil litigation including family law. She acts for both insurers and claimants in personal injury matters, advises on employment issues including investigations by the Department of Labour and Pensions, and regularly advises and represents stratas in a range of strata issues including challenges to the bye-laws, compliance with legislation and the recovery of overdue strata fees.

Alice joined Nelsons in early 2019 after practicing in the Cayman Islands since 2015. Previously, Alice was a barrister practicing in England and Wales. During her time in Cayman, Alice has been praised by judges for going above and beyond for her clients and for the assistance she has provided to the Courts.
